End of the Peace Jubilee.

Cor. N. Y. Tribune.

This is a great country. I never fully realized it until to day. I thought that human nature had gone through all its paces yesterday, but it did not. Even Grant pales before the resplendence of the 17th of June. For is it not the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, where Warren fell? What matters the fact that British red coats really won the day? It was a dear but worth many victories," and it not a national holiday, at least it is a branch of Fourth of July, and as such to be smiled upon wherever the granite shaft of Bunker Hill is visible to the naked eye. There seemed to be a great many people in the world yesterday, but countless hordes have been born since then. They sweep through the streets like the meekest of Goths and Vandals, seeking not whom but what they may devour. The Coliseum is head and shoulders above itself. The number of people taking electricity, trying their muscle, and getting their scissors ground, is not to be counted on fingers. The number of coming souls that are being taken in, is not to be taken in. The day is glorious, and everybody feels or intends to feel glorious.

Of what the Coliseum is you are beginning to have a faint glimmering of an idea. What the outside spectacle is you shall now know, if I can make my pen describe what my eyes have seen. Bostonians go about wondering if they are in their senses, and, judging by my own friends, I should say that they were not.

"If you would have peace, try Danforth's Bon Ton Soap!" Why Grant has never thought of this means of bringing about the grand aim of his administration, is passing strange. As he reads this Tribune, let him ponder and inwardly digest. "Here's your Excelsior Lemonade! sweet as sugar seven degrees colder than ice and warranted to take longer going down than any lemonade ever made this side of the Atlantic Ocean!" Step up, gentlemen, and try Sunsby's celestial blacking. It takes the shine out of the Coliseum, and what's more, I'll polish you for nothing!" The Boston Theatre sends round a donkey to spread the beauties of Humpty Dumpty before the people. When Humpty Dumpty had a great fall, was it owing to becoming a donkey? Angels and ministers of grace defend us! Can I believe my eyes? "Cow Lover Old Soda Water." Well there is no account for taste. Extraordinary case of mania. Self-made family Hercules. A milk giving Bull. "There's no humbug about it," exclaims a countryman who comes forth from the throng and reads a wiser man. "It's fact and no mistake. Well, I vum! What would Sarey Ann say to that? I wonder!" Pistol shooting is immensely in vogue. There are imposing effigies of respectable gentlemen with pipes in their mouths, which pipes you have the privilege of reducing to atoms for the small sum of five cents. It is as confusing to see how marksmen do not hit the pipes but do hit the gentlemen's eyes, ears and even jugular veins.

"How is it?" I ask of many traders. "Are you making money?" "Making money! No indeed. We are losing money. Our stands cost from $100 to $500, and if people don't behave better we'll be ruined. We don't know what's the matter, but the Coliseum seems to take away people's appetites, drat it!" "And how is it with you?" I ask of a handsome keeper of a Turkish Bazaar. "Vot for you vant to know?" "Merely for curiosity." "Den I say it is no good. Vot you go rid dat pensee?" "Oh, I am taking notes for a newspaper." "Diable!" exclaimed the little man, his eyes growing excited at the information. "You say mo on tres bien make the publique come. Write tres bien. A joining is a museum on wheels. "Walk in, please, we'd like to have a good word," says a good natured grandfather—if he is not a grandfather he ought to be—and we go. Such richness in wax figures! The Princess Charlotte, in a costume of the fourteenth Century and a war criticism of the Nineteenth, Miss McCrea, in red hair, murdered by an Indian of doubtful aboriginal extraction, General Scott in rather more lines and features than a mass, Grant, twice the size he was yesterday, proudly taken after his victories of the big drum. Mr. Lincoln, with black eyes and opposite giant Lee, Beauregard and Davis, in uniforms of the United States. This is undoubtedly a tribute to peace throughout the land by which all become clothed in new. "Pop corn! pop corn!" made and sugared by machinery. Buy a bag for five cents and we'll show you a mermaid and a mermaid, head of a man, and body of a fish. If you live a thousand years you'll never have such another opportunity."

"Let us have a piece" is the significant sign board to peculiar cakes, of which quantities are sold for the sake of keeping mother within. And here but a step from the sublime, is a ridiculous counterpart of the Coliseum in small in a building put up by certain negro minstrels. Twice a day do these indefatigable gentlemen of burnt cork, give entertainments to man and beast, and very profitable do they find their talent. People may live without humbugs, but they cannot live without them.

"Pompey," says Boots, "where you been?" "O in furrin ports." "Well, and dey?" "Well I live to Chilsea Beach, and I was six years in Charlestown." "Why, Pomp, you must have been Stet's Prison." "Certain, I was overseer." "Go! Why! What did you do?" "Run! for now de walls to see if it couldn't make my escape. Den I had a tremendous reception on Charlestown Bridge. "Don't say no!" "Yes, they made me ride. They rod me on a rail."

Perhaps you do not think this is wit. All I know is that on last Bigent and Tugent it immediately. Will you fly in the face of public opinion, you an exponent of the same? However, there was a whimsical evolution which will even to your disbelieving soul. Pompey takes Boots what he wanted. Nothing replied Pompey. "Niar do you go for dat?" "To my relations and I see sure to find it!"

There isn't much in the store for sale in the booths. Frank Leslie's Illustrated Memorial of the Jubilee is the only visible food for the mind. But there is any quantity of pretty cake, every piece selling for five cents, and every piece warranted to contain a prize. Icecream cake, bananas and bananas on the same plate and there are "P Nuts." "Ah, lady, I see you are in need of just the article I can furnish you in a jiffy. If you would be beautiful forever, if you would marry before you know it, take a glass of my Ambrosial nectar." "Step in, hurry up. Frowbridge and Hart are good for sore eyes. Just the thing for a hot day." The grand interpolated transformation of dress in 10 seconds is the most extraordinary feat ever performed by man. Seeing is believing." "Take a good look at our stereoscopic views. They are good for weak nerves. First view you can have for nothing." "Here's root beer, hop beer, ginger beer, lemon beer, strawberry beer, and every sort of beer but lager beer, which we don't sell on these premises, for the very good reason that we can't. We are a law abiding people, we are," and thus Sir Boniface winks and laughs as if he had said a good thing. My note book is an object of interest. "Are you taking an account of stock?" asked one party of an inquiring mind. Ah, here is a booth that looks positively eatable. There are no mince pies, and French soups are advertised. Mine host turns out to be an Italian from Palermo, and we have a very unceremonious chat in la lingua dolce. To speak his own language covers Signor Scacomo with delight, and pouring out his soul he tells me of better days when he was a chef at clubs, but now ohime times have changed. But he makes good soups he swears. For Barco, and to-morrow certain representatives of the Metropolitan Press are to sit down to his festive plank. At the Fenian Shades are found "Music and Cool Drinks." When the Bitter ale mind does undertake to punctuate, what an avalanche of periods is hurled at the rich particular word! Besides the Fenian Shades are several booths kept by our colored sisters. In fact, the Fenians are sandwiched between Ham to the apparent satisfaction of all parties. Not far off, revolving wooden horses are giving infinite delight to a select party of boys, who "Hi hi!" in a style that would do credit to the Bowery.

"Cool Seats sold here"—and turning to see how cool seats look, we discover a large tent in the rear of the chorister's gallery, where I am told the music is heard very distinctly. Admission to the outside of the Coliseum is twenty five cents. "A perpetual Jubilee guaranteed for all the season by the simple use of Solcknell's Syrup," declares the imposing sign. "And how much do you charge for the great privilege of putting up a modest sign on one of your spare boards?" I ask a man with a pipe in his mouth. The man eyes me and at first looks somewhat puzzled, but after two or three whiffs he recovers, and says "Patent medicines?" (It is charming to find out where one naturally belongs.) "Yes," I answer. "Well, from five to ten dollars." But even the low down people are apt to disagree in their estimates of human beings, for after a long a woman whether matters are going well with her, and receiving a melancholy reply, she inquired whether I kept a stand. You think that a Fandango is a dance, but here it is a circular cluster of swings, in which the populace most do congregate. Love sick swains revolve and revolve, families give their entire minds and bodies to the sport, men get in and pay so much money for so much time on purpose to go to sleep, others of an investigating turn get in to view the surrounding country, the landscape west of the Coliseum being very picturesque. Indeed there are terraces above some of the booths that make one discontented at being ornaments to society, otherwise her would be delightful creeping out grounds. The shop keepers sleep in them.

"Walk in, walk in, don't be bashful. It's the great Christkie, the most extraordinary performer on the slack wire that you ever see! He's just agoin' to begin. Price fifteen cents. If you don't like it after you get in your money will be returned." Resisting the irresistible Christkie, we are held spell bound by the eloquence of a gentleman in the cement business. "There is nothing like it from Dan to Beersheba. It mends everything on earth. Have you broken china? It will be made whole. Have you cracked boots? They will be as good as new. Is there a hole in your hat? It can be patched. I tell you that what I say, I say, and what I declare, I declare I don't ask you to buy my cement. All I do is to give you my receipt. You can make it yourselves. Give me a dollar and I give you a whip that won't wear out" (here the orator grows impressive) "I throw in the cement. Take it, and you will pay all your expenses to Boston." Alas! no one comes forward, and in disgust the cemented gentleman takes to smoking. At this stage we venture to ask whether business is brisk. Brisk! no. They don't know anything in Boston, but I'll make it all up in Cambridgeport, where there is an intelligent set of people. Now, them whips cost $20 a dozen, and they can't see what a bargain they're getting. Now, you're the first woman that has been around here, and you look as though you came from Connecticut. I don't where I come from. You shall have my cement for nothing and I am blessed with a receipt which, as it mends everything on earth, I shall try on start a hearts and broken friendships!"

We start from Daniel Webster Gant and the proprietor of the Bridging House are the only men whose portraits adorn the booths of Boston but what have we here? Two fine travelling wagons, each drawn by four horses manned by very stunning looking pirates in velvet and broadcloth, one of whom is crowing loud in descanting upon the virtues of Bragg's Relief and Cough Killer. Gentlemen, it is a panacea for every disease in the world. It will cure a cough in ten minutes. It will stop bleeding at the lungs in half an hour. It acts on the liver. It is up any sort of stomach. If you were as old as Methuselah and as gray as a badger, you'd be young in a day and your hair as black as a raven's wing. It will set any leg in five minutes unless it is a compound fracture, and as for sprains words fail to express its wonderful effects. Ah! you would like to be treated, Sir? What is it a sprain? Just have your foot, Sir. In one minute you will walk better than any gentleman in this crowd. Here the decoy jumps up, and an excited crowd watches the effect of the application while the eldest of the party goes to a melodeon on board and plays a species of accompaniment to the marvelous recitative of the speaker. The faces of all the men are exceeding shrewd and I am not surprised to learn that they are itinerant gamblers, who combine Bragg's Pain killer with a less lawful profession and thus contrive to humbug the public while gambling is a losing game.

With Bragg's Pain killer ends the circle of our saunter and then comes the mighty mass meeting of the afternoon with its swaying and surging making one awful human tidal wave such as can never, in all probability, come again. Midnight finds me listening to the inspiring music of Gilmore's and Dodworth's bands, as I send you the filmy outline of what it is to be the Jubilee Ball. Fancy a hall of space roofed in with a stately organ and decorated with ranges of lamps, in the far distance, the colossal figure of Peace, illuminated by stars. Between, there seem to be countless rainbows intertwined with stars, and beneath automatic bits of rainbow are whirling like mad now here now there, like myriads of ignes fatui. Soon from the descated choir the special in is brilliant, beautiful and unique. Examine these bits of rainbow in detail and the spell is broken. A public ball can never attain such ideal perfection, and the of the jubilee does not differ from its kind. There are women in full dress, women in demi toilette, women in handsome walking suits, women in very hideous street dresses. Ugliness exceeds beauty. Male costumes are equally varied. Dress coats, stock coats, light suits, dark suits, gloves and no gloves. With such an absence of exquisite, there is little for the girl who takes no pleasure but to retire to where the angels ought to be, and least upon the jaded family of color, light, and sound. The locale is of Mitchelangelesque magnificence, the music sets every nerve in one's body dancing with pleasure, and all the 10,000 men and women assembled compare very unfavorably with the work of man, which does this demonstrate to the inferiority of the many to the creation of the few? The Coliseum deserved to be filled with the best people, and the best of those people could already in incentive in Boston has thrown away an opportunity and in against protests to the item of art. In these days the Coliseum has become a double institution, in whom we of the press take a pride, and that people should enter its unmitigated presence in close of the month and the show shows a want of appreciation of all that the Jubilee is trying to celebrate. Peace means harmony. But let me not indulge in harsh language or I too will be forgetting the lesson of the week. To be good natured, I will say that the Jubilee is a complete success—people excepted.

The Influence of Sun-Heat on Fruits.

Never was there a greater mistake made than that of supposing that fruit produced in the shade has the best flavor. It is a false notion, the mere chimera of half a century ago. The Black Hamburg Grape is, to some extent an exception to the rule, for its berries will not color if the branches are deprived of too many of their leaves, so as to let the sun in amongst the bunches too freely. Whereas the Muscat of Alexandria will not attain its rich amber color so much overcrowded with leaves as to keep the rays of the sun from penetrating freely amongst the bunches. A plum or pear produced in the winter has not the flavor of one ripened in the warm months of the year, with the sun upon it. Again, under the old method of planting strawberries in beds of four feet wide, the fruit is not to be compared, either in size or flavor, with that of those planted on single rows. Now, what is the reason of this? I conceive that it is in consequence of the action of the sun upon the fruit. The fruit shaded by leaves, will always be more or less insipid and worthless, as compared with that on which the sun has had full play. It is the sun that puts flavor into our fruit.

Ole Bull exhibits the same attention and devotedness to his work when playing with an orchestra of a thousand that he does when executing one of his own masterly solos. A man of genius is never a slouch in his business.

M. Thiers is said to have won over one of the electors by going into ecstasies over his pet cat. Madam Thiers accompanied the veteran statesman in his canvassing excursion.

AN ORDINANCE

REGULATING SALES BY AUCTIONEERS

Be it ordained by the Common Council of the City of Titusville, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same.

1st. That every person engaged in selling goods as an auctioneer, or as "Cheap John," shall pay to said city the sum of fifty dollars per year as a license. Every person who receives one or more bids for goods at public outcry, shall be deemed an auctioneer under this Ordinance.

2nd. That in case a license is not obtained by every person required by the Ordinance to obtain a license, every such person, on conviction before the Mayor or any Justice of the Peace, in said city, of any violation of this Ordinance, shall pay in addition to said license, a fine of one-half the amount required to be paid by such person for a license as aforesaid, with costs of suit.

3d. That said license shall be granted and signed by the Mayor and attested by the City Clerk.

4th. And provided further that that part of Ordinance requiring auctioneers to obtain a license, passed April 19, 1866, shall remain in force for ten days after this date, and that the other Sections of said Ordinance are not hereby repealed.

Passed in Council June 9th, 1869.

VERY LATEST NEWS.

The New Constitution

MADRID, June 22.

The official reading of the new Constitution in many places in the country was answered with Republican cries. Slight disturbances have occurred at Feral Leon and Pontevrda, but they were promptly suppressed.

Republican Demonstration.

A grand Republican demonstration will be made here to-morrow in honor of the victories of the revolution of 1866. The national Pantheon will be inaugurated and the remains of illustrious Spaniards will be conducted by a procession through the streets and deposited in the edifice with appropriate ceremonies. Disturbance is apprehended, which the Government is taking precautions to prevent.

General Pezuela.

Gen. Pezuela has been taken to Cadiz, where he will be tried by court martial.

Yacht Racing.

LONDON, June 22.

The Royal Thames Yacht Club Regatta came off to-day. The course was from the North Downs. Twelve yachts sailed, starting at 8:35, and by time and allowance the Julia won the first prize of 100 pounds and the Eliza the second prize of fifty pounds.

United States Bonds.

FRANKFORT, June 22.

United States bonds closed easier, but not quotably lower.

Financial.

FLORENCE, June 22.

The official newspaper says: Digaibe's financial scheme has not been abandoned as reported It will be modified and again presented to the Chamber. The Government has determined to abolish forced currency.

Emmigration.

LONDON, June 22.

Five thousand emigrants left Liverpool for the week ending Saturday for different parts in America.

Died.

Charles Napier Stuart, member of Parliament for Rochester, died last evening.

Viceroy of Egypt.

Ishmael Pasha, Viceroy of Egypt, arrived in London to day and is the guest of the Queen at Buckingham Palace, which has been fitted up for his residence. A series of brilliant fetes have been arranged in his honor. The Viceroy was met at the railway station by the Prince of Wales and others, and escorted by a large procession to Buckingham Palace. An immense crowd of people lined the way, and repeatedly cheered.

King Theadorus' Son.

The son of the late King Theadorus, of Ayssinia, who has been at school here, will be sent to India, as the climate of England proves unfavorable to his health.

The Star Satisfied.

The Star to-day praises the U. S. Government for its consistency in taking measures to prevent the departure of fillibustering parties for Cuba. It says the sanction by the Attorney General of the arrest of Cuban insurgent Junta in New York is satisfactory. The more vigorously the neutrality laws are enforced at the outset the more easily will the public mind be led in the right direction. Sympathy for a nation struggling for freedom is natural to Americans as well as Englishmen, but the sooner the people are reminded that a neutral country has duties incompatable with the sending out of privateers and warlike expeditions the better. Neutrality is not likely to exist unless the laws, as they now stand, are enforced, and when the laws are insufficient, they ought to be amended English lawyers and statesmen may, to their own advantage and instruction, watch the result of the proceedings instituted in the United States for the American statute dealing with the subject, as it is almost identical with the English law, and the case will form a precedent of policy worthy of consideration and imitation.

The Irish Church Question.

In the House of Lords this evening the Earle of Shaftsburg gave notice of an amendment to the bill for the disestablishment of the Irish Church, to the following effect: "That the surplus church property shall be a fund from which to grant loans to the Irish peasantry.

Political.

MADRID, June 22.

The republican members of the Cortes are about to issue a manifesto advising all their supporters to swear allegiance to the constitution if positively required so to do. The clergy consider it their policy to reject the oath as a body.

The Republican demonstration to-day was quite large to day and passed off quietly.

General News.

NEW YORK, June 22

The following dispatch from Mr. Collier has been received by the Executive Committee of the United States Indian Commission in this city

FORT DEFIANCE, June 4.—We leave this morning for the Moqui country, via Arizona. They are Pueblo Indians, of whom but very little is known. They are said to occupy five or six villages in the mountains and number about 70,000 souls. They are peaceable and industrious, raising corn and having flocks of goats and sheep. Dr. Palmer, of the Smithsonian Institute, and an escort of four soldiers and the Navajo Indians accompany us, all mounted on mules, and rations for twenty days. The Navajos are doing as well as can be expected after their cruel and stupid removal to the Bosque Redondo Gen. Sherman deserves great praise for restoring them to their old home here. They have about 2,000 acres planted with wheat, corn, beans &c., and have many sheep and are fast recovering from their poverty. Still, they need help Rev. J. M. Roberts has commenced a school and church among them at this place under the Presbyterian board, which promises well, but he needs help also.

The members of the Cuban Junta, arrested yesterday, were to-day admitted to bail, except Ryan, who remains in jail until his examination to morrow.

It is understood Secretary Boutwell will to-morrow appoint a successor to Assistant Treasurer Vandyck, who tendered his resignation some months ago.

An order has been entered in the Superior Court directing the Trust Company to pay the alimony to Mrs. Forest semi-annually hereafter, which obviates the necessity of special semi-annual orders.

A large number of lottery and policy dealers have been arrested and held for examination charged with doing business without paying special tax.

Several more yellow fever patients from Saratoga were admitted to the hospital and one additional death occurred.

Rev. Dr. Greenleaf, rector of the Church of Emanuel, Brooklyn, died suddenly in his chair in the vestry room last night. He was a son of the late Judge Greenleaf, of Harvard College.

The Herald's special Havana dispatch says: The steamship Cleopatra, from Vera Cruz, has arrived. Dispatches from the City of Mexico, dated the 12th inst., report Minister Nelson would arrive in the capital the following day and be officially presented to Juarez on the 16th. Gen. Rosecrans was to leave for Acupulcopo immediately. There was considerable excitement about the arrival of Minister Nelson. The foreigners expect either the annexation of Mexico to the United States or a protectorate over the Republic. The Mexicans are jealous and fearful. Parties concocting bogus claims to lay before the Commission to sit at Washington, have been arrested, and many suspected of complicity were being watched.

A Hong Kong letter of April 28th states that twenty articles, embodying highly important concessions, will be added to the text of the Burlingame treaty. These are intended to afford greater protection to commercial facilities to foreigners.

Erie Railroad Officers

BUFFALO, June 22.

The following is the result of an election for officers of the Buffalo end of the Erie Railway, held here to-day: Directors—William Williams, of Buffalo, A. Robinson of New York, Horace T. Clark, of New York, Augustus Schell, of N. Y., H. Lee, of Silver Creek, Gibson T. Williams of Buffalo, Wm. L. Scott, of Erie, Pa., Milton Courtright, of Erie, Charles M. Reed, of Erie, H. I. Lansing, of Buffalo, John M. Hutchinson, of Buffalo, James C. Harrison, and George H. Chase of Buffalo. President, William Williams; Vice President, Chas. H. Lee; Secretary and Treasurer, George H. Chase.

Muskets for Turkey.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., June 23.

Colonel Benton, commandant of the United States Armory, is sending away 100,000 muskets which our Government has sold to the Turkish Government.

The Donaldson Trial.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.

Capt. Barr, first clerk of the steamer Great Republic, testified in the Donaldson trial yesterday that he was not present when Anderson was shot; was asleep in his room; was in the baggage room, however, with Donaldson between 12 and 12½ o'clock; thought Anderson and Grover were sitting or lying on the trunks; did not hear any conversation between them and Donaldson; had been talking with Donaldson about business; Donaldson was going up town; knew nothing about $500 note of his father-in-law and Donaldson to pay for running off of Ray and Grover; Donaldson never told me how much it cost him to get Ray and Grover out of the way.

Dr. McKinsy testified that while he was in charge of the dispensary at Dr. Pope's College, Grover applied for medical treatment, and in conversation told him and McKinstry Donaldson did not do the shooting on the Republic, but was absent during the fuss; next saw Grover on the 5th of last month in jail, and he turned pale as a corpse when he saw me.

Wm. Livingston, engineer of the steamer, testified he was at work from 12 to 4 o'clock; he and Jackson, the watchman, were sitting on the steps when a pistol was fired; had been there an hour before the shot was heard; could see the baggage room, and no one could go into the room without our seeing them. After hearing the pistol Sam. Ray locked out, and Jackson asked him what was the matter; he said, "Oh, nothing," and shut the door; Geo. Williams could not have been there; I did not see him at all that night; he was not standing on the steps at the time the report was heard; the watchman and myself were the only persons awake on the boat; Ray did not go out, but opened the door and shut it again; there was no other noise about the boat while I was awake; I did not see Barr nor Donaldson; saw nobody come out of the baggage room.

W. Thomson, cabin watchman, swore he was on duty all night, heard them running for some body on levee; don't know where Captain Donaldson was; think it was between 1 and 2 o'clock that a man ran off; Captain Donaldson left long before that—about two hours; heard no pistol shot, and did not know the man was killed until the watchman came aboard; did not see George Williams that night; Williams told me when he went off the boat to tell if he saw Ray he would be back about 4 o'clock. Next day Williams said to me: "I am very glad I was not here, or I would have been in that trouble." I never told Williams that I followed Donaldson to the baggage room; about 2 o'clock (it was after Barr went to bed) that I heard the pistol shot; did not tell anybody the negroes were raising hell; don't recollect telling any one that Donaldson was in the baggage room raising hell; did not know anything about the fuss till the policemen came on board; did not see Barr after he went to bed; about 1 o'clock I left Samuel Ray down in office in the cabin.

Alfred B. Davett, a clerk of the boat testified—He heard George Williams, the second porter, say he was glad he was not on the boat, as he might have been mixed up in the fuss.

The Allen-McCoole Affair.

At a late hour last night Tom Allen denied that the stake money in his fight with McCoole has been given up, and don't want persons who bet on the fight to give up their money.

New Railroad Project.

The Iron Mountain Railroad will be opened to day to Fredrictown, 105 miles from St. Louis. This leaves only a gap of 25 miles to be ironed between here and Belmont, which will be finished in a few days. Mr. Allen, the President of the Road, will start for New York in a few days on business in connection with the construction of a road from Morley, Mo., along the western bank of the Mississippi River to a point opposite Memphis. The counties through which the contemplated road will pass are awake to the importance and necessity of the road already. New Madrid County has voted to give 80,000 acres of swamp land, and the citizens have agreed to take stock to the amount of $100,000 more. Scott county has agreed to donate 50,000 acres of her swamp lands, to be increased by the subscription of the citizens. Pemiscot county subscribed 500,000 acres, and it was agreed that the claims for 80,000 acres of swamp lands by the county against the General Government should likewise be given to the road, and citizens will also subscribe money. The road will be located about one mile from the river, thereby forming a levee that will be of vast benefit in reclaiming immense tracts of land from overflow. It is estimated that in Pemiscot county alone about 200,000 acres of overflowed lands will be reclaimed by the construction of the proposed road. The road thus that is run in this State will be 52 miles beyond the State line. The Arkansas people are stirring in the matter.

A special from Jefferson City to the Democrat says, in reference to a recent statement in the N. Y. Evening Post, that Missouri will pay interest on her bonds in gold; that $550,000 in currency has been placed in New York to pay the interest, but that no attempt has been made nor have any steps been contemplated to convey into Governments for the purpose named. It is stated, however, that the Attorney General has given an opinion that the State is legally bound to pay in gold; but in reply to a question by the Funds Commissioners, whether the Legislature authorized them to buy gold to pay the interest with, he replied that it had not, and there the matter rested.

Personal.

Gen. Sherman arrived at Omaha yesterday en route to Chicago.

Yerger Case.

JACKSON, Miss., June 22.

In the case of Yerger, for shooting Col Crane, it was shown to-day that the plank seized was the property of Yerger, and Crane knew the fact, but ordered the officer to make the seizure, notwithstanding it is shown by correspondence that Yerger had offered to settle the claim of the city against him if the city would settle a claim he held against it for damages to property caused by neglect of the city government. An order of restitution has been issued by Judge Pitson in the high court and served on Crane previous to the difficulty, but it had not been obey d.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE MORNING HERALD, TITUSVILLE, June 22, 1869—5 p. m.

The tendency of prices on the creek is, just now, toward a higher range, and to-day there was a decided advance of ten cents at all points, although the demand was such as would usually be considered moderate and the tone of the principal outside markets was dull. This anomalous condition of affairs has been occasioned principally by light offerings, both by the producers and dealers. The inquiry to-day was principally for Cleveland, and over two thirds of the 7,400 which changed hands was purchased for that market. The demand was barely active in the morning, and sales were made up to $5 00 and $5.05 at points north of Boyd's at $4.95, at points south of that place, and in the afternoon to $5 60 on bread gauge cars at Oil City. At the close the feeling, though quiet, was very firm and round lots could not have been obtained at less than five to ten cents advance on the prices named.

PITTSBURGH OIL MARKET.

PITTSBURGH, June 22

Crude—The Crude oil market has been quiet all day, there being but two sales reported. Prices are a fraction higher this afternoon; 16c is bid for June without meeting with a response. We quote S O July at the same figure; sellers all year is nominal at 13½@14c; sales of 1,000 bbls S O June at 14c; 1,000 bbls S O 20 days, 40 to 45 gr at 15c

Refined oil market is very quiet with no essential change note in prices since Saturday. 31½c is bid for June. We quote July at 31½c and August at 32c; Aug to October 33½.

STATE AND COUNTY RIGHTS FOR SALE.

Good inducements to purchasers.

These wells will yield a barrel of water in three minutes the advantages claimed over ordinary wells are

First. They cannot be poisoned by surface water, and tap the pure fountains.

Second. They effectually exclude all filth and stagnant water, and contain no vacuum for impure air, and therefore is pure.

Third. They are made with dispatch, in summer or winter, without any of contention of tubes or pipes.

Fourth. Neither rats, mice, bugs or worms can get into these wells.

Fifth. They are less expensive than ordinary wells by one half.

Sixth. By an ingenious arrangement attached to the sucker rod the pump can be locked, thereby effectually excluding all water or dirt from rising with the water.

It should be remembered that the fifth mentioned advantage of these and purchasers should bear in mind that only in the atmosphere which we breathe, but that there is a drop of water in every breath, in the shape of water, and when you find a locality where there is no water, sink a well, and you will find plenty.

—We are informed that all the Rescue Hook & Ladder boys have joined the Independent base ball club.

—The Seneca base-ball club of Oil City play a match game with the new Titusville club on Tuesday next.

—A railroad from Freeport on the Allegheny river to Butler is projected, and the surveys are now being made.

—The Republican State Convention meets to day at Philadelphia. To-morrow we shall be able to announce the standard bearers of the fall campaign.

—Prof. Thurston's balloon will be at the Driving Park on the 1st, 2d, and 3d of July, and make limited ascensions for the accommodation of spectators.

—The receipts of strawberries at Titusville have during the last week averaged about thirty-eight bushels per day—retailing at from 20 to 25 cents per quart.

—Mr. Ed. Brown is preparing an attractive programme for the 5th of July at the Driving Park. Besides fast trotting there will be a match velocipede race.

—Mr. W. R. Ewing, Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, has removed his office from Kingsland block to the office of F. Bates & Co., opposite the Bush House.

—"Bridal Chariot" is the name of Prof Thurston's monster air ship. It is the balloon which conveyed a wedding party from Pittsburgh to Cleveland several years ago.

—Putnam, Atlantic, Lippincott, Galaxy Godey's, Demorest's, Leslie's and all other popular magazines for July, can be had at W. P. Howe & Co's P. O. news depot.

—A Pittsburgh crew intend entering for the prize of four hundred dollars to be given to the best four oared crew at the Boston regatta to take place on the third or fifth of July.

—The Good Templars of Tionesta are making arrangements for a celebration of the glorious 4th. The programme provides for a picnic and oration on the 3d, and fire works in the evening.

—The Corry Machine Company now employ 410 men and pay them about $20,000 per month They turn out between fifty and sixty Climax Mowers every day and expect to make seventy five a day soon

—There will be a horse fair at Stoneboro, July 2d and 3d. A good premium list is published and the fair promises to be a success. Major Kennedy, of the Lake House, has made ample preparations to entertain the people.

—Prof. Birdsall requests that all the young ladies of his singing class meet at Prof. Stewart's room in the school building at 6½ o'clock this evening. The object is to prepare vocal music for the public exercises on the 5th of July.

—The Allegheny Valley Railway Company has changed its mind in regard to the position of the River Bridge. They now purpose to cross from a point above the Carlisle House, Venango City to a point near the residence of Mr. Turner, below Riverleyville. The work on the shore pier has been stopped.

—The Corry Republican states that a train will leave the depot at Corry every Sunday, commencing June 30th inst., at 9:40 a. m., over the Cross Cut road to Brocton, returning at 5:00 p. m., thus connecting with the Pacific train each way, or the Buffalo & Erie road for Buffalo, or the West; and allowing four hours at Mayville for those wishing to take a pleasure trip on the lake in the splendid steamers which ply on Chautauqua Lake.

—Some 15 of the soldiers of 1812 are still living in Warren county. —On the 7th of August next, there will be a total eclipse of the sun, beginning at sunrise of the 8th in the Pacific ocean, east of Japan, in latitude thirty-six degrees and fifty-three minutes, and the line of the total eclipse crossing into Alaska runs thence southeastwardly across this continent, ending in the Atlantic Ocean off the North Carolina coast from Beaufort at sunset. It will be the sunset of the 7th on this coast, while it will be sunrise of the 8th on the Pacific, near Japan. In New York city the eclipse will commence at twelve minutes past five o'clock, p. m., and will end at sunset.

—The century plant at the nursery of the Messrs. Frost, of Rochester, has commenced breaking at its apex, preparatory to producing branches for flowering; which may be expected within a month or more. After perfecting its bloom, the entire plant wilts, decays and drops to the earth. It is proposed by a scientific gentleman to embalm; or rather to Kyanize the whole plant, by injecting into its pores a antiseptic, as corrosive sublimate or creosote, by hydraulic power, whereby it would be preserved in its present state for all time to come, and become a standard curiosity.

Can the Colored Man Work at a Trade?

Our civil war melted the chains from the limbs of every slave held in bondage in the United States. Our National Congress has conferred the ballot upon the freedmen in the lately reconstructed States. And lastly, there remains but the statutory expression of the Legislative assent, and concurrence of three or four more States, to complete the political enfranchisement of the black man, and to endow him with the right to vote upon the same terms and conditions with the white man, in whatever State in the Union he may acquire a legal residence. Further than this, the Republican Administration-elect, has appointed several colored men to the offices in its gift—foreign missions, postoffices, etc. The force of law can achieve little more in this direction, and our party, which was organized to redress the wrongs of the black man, will have fulfilled its mission when the Constitutional Amendment becomes part and parcel of the Federal Constitution. When that is done, we may repeat, for we must now fix and settle the suffrage question irrevocably, and beyond the caprice and passion of party. Consistency and equality both require that the law of Suffrage should be the same in Massachusetts as in South Carolina.

We have no fears that the white man will be driven beyond the Mississippi, and into the western ocean by the overmastering black man, in return for the boon of freedom and the weapon for retaining it, the ballot, which withstardy justice the Government has extended to him. The next census will exhibit a gulf-wide disparity between the two races, lately dominant or servile, in population, in wealth, in education, and all the attributes of civilization and excite for that hapless people the sentiments of commiseration rather than those of fear or foreboding.

But the black man is still, we perceive, a firebrand and an apple of discord, in several quarters. A son of Frederick Douglass has the impudence to demand work at the printing trade, whereat some white men are dreadfully scandalized and irate. If he had been contented to settle down in domestic service, as cook or scullion; had he turned his attention to blacking boots or whitening walls all wou'd have well; but "as the son of his father," as one who had "worn the blue," he thought he would set type for a living, and finding such employment in Washington, he went to work, till a hue and cry was raised among his fellow craftsmen, and they have seized hold of a technical rule of the Typographical Union to put him out, and put him down. Next to the iniquity of appropriating the fruits of another's labor, is the meanness of preventing him from earning it, in a legitimate way. Indeed, the same spirit of injustice and oppression characterizes both proceedings.

It will be seen by the following report from the New York Herald that young Douglass has the best of the controversy so far. It appears that his case came up for consideration at a meeting of the Typographical Union in the city of Washington, when the following report was submitted to the Committee on Nominations:

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19, 1869

To the Officers and Members of the Columbia Typographical Union, No 101:—

Your Committee on Nominations would respectfully report that they have investigated the application of the following named gentlemen and recommend them for membership:—George J. Severance, N. F. Ethel, C. T. Benson, A. Crogan, J. N. Davis, Jr., William Bennet, James Wande, J. W. Maloney, C. P. Perley. In regard to the application of Lewis H. Douglass, your committee find—first, that he has served a sufficient length of time at the business; second, that he gives satisfaction as a compositor and that he has a good character; and, third, that the only place he has worked since a journeyman where there was a union is Denver, Col., in which place, says Mr. John E. Watkins, Secretary of Denver Union, he is not considered a "rat," from the fact that he was not a union member and that their union never took any action in regard to the matter; also that there is no reason, except race and color, that should deprive him of becoming a member of a Typographical Union. Your committee are therefore of the opinion that Lewis H. Douglass is a fair man, and recommend that he be admitted to membership in Columbia Typographical Union, No 101

Respectfully submitted.

L. H. PATTERSON, Chairman.
JOSEPH H. PALMER

A minority report was also submitted by A. C. Shaw, as follows:—

WASHINGTON, June 19, 1869

TO THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF COLUMBIA TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION, NO. 101.—

The committee to whom were referred the nominations of Messrs. George Severance, Wm Bennett, and others, beg leave to report that they have had the same under consideration, and report favorably on the following named candidates:—Messrs. Severance, Bennett, &c. In the case of N. F. Ethel your committee ask for further time, as reports have been circulated and not properly cleared up in respect to him. The case of Lewis H. Douglas for membership is embarrassed with difficulties, which makes a statement of the facts necessary to a proper understanding of it. From the articles which have appeared in the public journals through the procurements of his friends, it is ascertained that Lewis H Douglas was born in 1841, entered his father's office in Rochester in 1852, and attained his majority in 1862. The paper was discontinued and he entered the army, and was detailed and discharged therefrom. He subsequently taught school in Maryland for some months in 1866, and in the same year went to Denver, Col., where he obtained work as a compositor in the Gazette office, and continued therein until discharged, some time in 1867, for reasons oscillating between failure to get his pay and prejudice of caste. From Denver he came to Washington and found ready employment in the Congressional Printing office. Such is a rapid review of the facts of this case; and now for the law. The plain requirements of the laws of this Union and of the National Union do not admit to membership a printer without a card who comes from a place where a union exists, unless he brings from such a union a certificate satisfactorily explaining why he has none. Apply the law to the facts. When he left Rochester, New York, on the discontinuance of his father's paper in 1862, he had attained his majority and was eligible to union membership, even if that union made majority a prerequisite, of which there is no evidence. He admits he made no application, because of minority. After service in the army, as already stated in 1865 and 1866, he worked in Denver as an office in bad repute, and said under the ban of Union No. 49. According to his own admission, he neither made application for membership through an officer of the union, as prescribed by general union laws, nor through any reputable craftsmen, but continued in the office where he first found employment until dismissed therefrom, for one or two reasons already adverted to. The character he established for himself in Denver still attaches, and does not lift him above the operation of the general law, outside of which Union No. 101 cannot safely travel The committee do not think it proper to notice arguments from parties outside of our interests on this question with which the press has teemed for a month or more Applying to the case laws which regulate the disposition of all others, the committee are constrained to recommend that the applicant be not admitted. Your committee would respectfully refer to papers numbered from one to five inclusive, all of which is respectfully submitted.

A. C. SHAW

Mr. Flynn moved to lay the minority report upon the table, upon which the yeas and nays were demanded. The vote was taken amid frequent interruptions and great confusion, and resulted in yeas 229 nays 164 The announcement of the vote was received with applause mingled with hisses. On motion of Mr. Flynn the majority report was adopted amid cheering and confusion. The Union then proceeded to vote upon the candidates proposed for admission with the exception of Lewis H. Douglass. Three names having been balloted for, and the candidates elected, the President was about to read the name of the fourth when Mr Flynn moved that the Union adjourn. This motion was met by a perfect storm of hisses and cheers, and the speaker's voice was lost amid the confusion. T. Cavis stated that as the Union was in progress of balloting for candidates reported upon favorably by the committee the process could not be interrupted by any motion whatever. The Chair decided the point well taken. Mr. Flynn attempted to renew his motion to adjourn amid loud cries of "order." The very windows jingled with cries of "order," "Sit down," "Put him out," "Bottle him up," &c. The speaker vainly endeavoring to be heard, the President using his gravel with a vengeance in his attempt to preserve order. Several members claimed that a motion to adjourn was always in order, which had the effect of adding to the confusion. Mr. Brock appealed from the decision of the Chair. At this juncture an individual, small but spunky, advanced in a menacing manner toward the devoted speaker. This little by play was the signal for a general eruption, and for a time it seemed as if chaos had come again. The police finally soothed the passions of the crowd, the Chair then making the announcement that the motion to adjourn was in order. Tellers were thereupon appointed, who proceeded to take the vote amid loud outcries and calls for the yeas and nays. The motion prevailed, but the announcement was drowned by a perfect babel of voices. The Union then adjourned. Immediately after the adjournment, Mr. Cavis was called to the platform and proceeded to address the large audience still lingering in the hall. He adjured his fellow craftsmen to stand by their organization and to resist the formidable attempt to disintegrate the Printer's Union. In conclusion he warned the employes of the government office that if worse came to worse the regulars of No. 101 would be forced to deny them any further admission of members, and thereby reduce them to a more hopeless minority, the assemblage then dispersed.

If the "Printer's Union" debars Douglass under the circumstances, from earning his bread, at the case it is time it was "disintegrated". Free labor is as much an incident of citizenship, and badge of manhood as the ballot, and any attempt by any co operative society to exclude any black man from earning his living by any trade to which he can induce employers to hire him, any such attempt having no better foundation than prejudice against color is in contravention of the law, and a very great injustice.

Irish Church Bill.

At an early hour Saturday morning the bill for the disestablishment of the Irish church passed to its second reading in the house of lords—ayes 179, nays, 146. It will be seen by the cable dispatches Monday that most of the lord bishops voted in the negative. The debate previous to the division was exceedingly interesting and attracted as many listeners as the chamber would hold—the prince of Wales and duke of Cambridge being of the number. Lord Russell, the duke of Argyle, Lord Hatherly and Earl Granville are named as having made speeches in favor of the measure, while the duke of Abercorn, the Bishop of Litchfield, Lord Cairnes spoke in opposition. Great enthusiasm is said to prevail among the London populace, and it will naturally extend to the provinces. When the result of the vote in the house of commons it was hailed with great cheering.

In an article upon this subject, the New York Evening Post says that "the destruction of the state church in Ireland is a heavy blow to the church of England as a whole. It is a solemn recognition of the principle that the state has no natural or divine connection with the church; that it has no right to impose a creed or worship upon unwilling subjects; that, in short, the church must be, like the state, the free expression of the best convictions of its members. That principle admitted, the church of England has no claim to exist as an establishment, save as it represents the faith and conscience of the people." The passage of this bill, in opposition to "the conservative peers," is a great personal triumph to Mr. Gladstone, of whom the Post says

Long known to the world as one of England's ripest scholars, as her greatest orator, and as the most sincere of her public men, his capacity for practical statesmanship was questioned. He has now won the greatest triumph ever gained by an English statesman. Boldly appealing to the sense of justice of the whole nation, he attack a one of the oldest and saddest abuses this age has inherited in the name of religion, and in defiance alike of timid supporters and of crafty enemies, he has fought the battle of reform until the end is secure Never before was so important an act of three people more closely identified with a single name than the destruction of the Irish establishment must always be with that of Gladstone; a name which, as well in the splendor of the achievements it represents as in the unsullied character of its bearer, is already among the first in European history

JOHN DEERY'S BILLIARD SEANCE On Monday evening last the lovers of billiards enjoyed a great treat. Mr. Deery, the champion player of the world, and who holds possession of the champion diamond cue, gave an entertainment at the Crittenden House in the presence of about one hundred spectators. The programme opened with a game of 1,000 points, carom, (push shot barred, played with Mr. George Abbey, of this city, whose services Mr Deery was very fortunate in securing. Although Mr Abbey was considerably out of practice, he gave evidence of being a most skillful player, and several very difficult shots of his were warmly applauded Mr. Deery's playing throughout showed that he was master of the situation and during the game executed some very fine shots. Mr. Deery opened the game with a run of 91 followed by 23 from Abbey; Deery followed with several small runs until the sixth inning, when he scored 41, making his total 98 Abbey had increased his score by this time to 108, giving him the first call. Up to the twelfth inning Deery had been behind, when he made a run of 93 making his total 312 to Abbey's 232. The playing for the next seven innings did not affect the differences in the score, but on the twentieth inning Abbey made a run of 58, making his total 417 to Deery's 438—Deery 21 points ahead. On the twenty fifth inning Deery made his largest run, 113, making his total 579 to Abbey's 438. From the twentieth to the thirtieth inning Abbey seemed to play with very good luck and scored but little. On the thirtieth inning the game stood: Deery 787, Abbey 480, and on the thirty fifth inning: Deery 839, Abbey 536

Abbey still seemed to have rather poor luck, and Deery scoring 87 on the thirty eighth inning followed by Abbey scoring 32, when the game stood Deery 974, Abbey 568. Deery followed by scoring 12, and Abbey added nothing to his score, making the thirty ninth inning In the fortieth inning for Deery he placed 14 more on his string, just making his thousand points, Abbey's score standing 568 After this game was finished, which occupied two hours and a quarter, Mr. Deery gave an exhibition of some of his very difficult and fancy shots, which were warmly applauded. We regret that want of space prevents us from commenting at more length. The following is the score in full

Deery—96, 18, 16, 8, 41, 4, 46, 11, 6, 57, 90, 21, 7, 27, 18, 4, 22, 12, 15, 8, 6, 7, 7, 113, 21, 55, 78, 13, 8, 0, 19, 18, 15, 0, 41, 7, 87, 12, 14 Total 1000—average 25

Abbey—23, 23, 20, 27, 0, 15, 49, 16, 22, 7, 7, 23, 34, 4, 13, 25, 19, 26, 6, 58, 15, 2, 0, 0, 4, 0, 16, 10, 0, 16, 18, 0, 29, 0, 9, 0, 0, 32, 0 Total 568—average 14¾.

PRESIDENT MAKING FOR 1872.—A New York special to the Cincinnati Gazette says that a movement has been commenced among some dissatisfied Republicans for pressing Salmon P Chase for President in 1872, and with a supposed intention of coalescing with the Democrats Hugh Hastings, of the Commercial Advertiser, David Dudley Field, Thomas C. Murphy, and George Opdyke, are mentioned among the parties interested, and two or three meetings have been held to arrange plans. A meeting was arranged at the St. James Hotel, but there were not enough present to organize Some who went into the measure at first have dropped out of it on account of its strong leanings toward Tammany Democracy, and a suspicion that it was intended to carry Conservative Republicans into the Democratic ranks.

Primary Meetings.

As the Primary Meetings are at hand, we think the republication of the following rules for their government, will be useful to all interested therein, whether candidates for nomination, officers of elections, or voters.

On the 20th day of June, 1860, the Republican County Convention passed the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we are in favor of submitting the nomination directly to the people—the Republican voters—and that delegate conventions for nominating county officers be abolished, and we hereby request and instruct the County Committee to issue their call in 1861, in accordance with the spirit of this resolution.

Leaving no directions to the Executive Committee of 1861 as to plan of operations, other than to systematize and put into "running order," the system they inaugurated as above stated; which they did on the 8th inst., as is set forth in the seven items and two resolutions following:

1. The candidates for the several offices shall have their names announced in one or more of the county papers at least three weeks previous to the primary meetings, stating the office, and subject to the action of the party at the said primary meeting.

2. The voters responding to Republican principles in each town, ward or borough shall meet on the 30th day of August at the usual place of holding the spring elections, at 6 o'clock p. m., and proceed to elect one person for judge and two persons for clerks, who shall form a Board of Election to receive votes and determine who are proper persons to vote and shall hold the polls open until 6 p. m. After the polls are opened, the candidates announced as aforesaid, shall be balloted for, the names of each person voting shall be written on a list at the time of voting, no person being allowed to vote more than once for each office.

3 After the polls are closed the Board shall proceed to count the votes that each candidate has received, and make out the returns accordingly, to be certified to by the judge, and attested by the clerks.

4 The Judge (or one of the clerks appointed by the Judge) of the respective election districts, shall meet at the Court House, in Meadville, on Tuesday following the primary meetings, at 1 o'clock, p. m., having the returns and a list of the voters and count the votes and the person having the highest number of votes for any office shall be declared the regular nominee of the Republican party.

5 Any two or more persons having an equal number of votes for the same office, the Judges shall proceed to ballot for a choice, the person having number to be the nominee.

6 The Return Judges shall be competent to reject, by a majority, the returns from any election district, where there is evidence of fraud, either in the returns or otherwise, to the extent of the frauds committed.

7. The Return Judges shall have power to appoint Conferees—Senatorial and Congressional—as may be hereafter required, who shall be recommended to support the person who may receive the largest number of votes cast for that office in this county.

Resolved, That the afore-said Return Judges may at any time change the mode and manner of selecting candidates as they may be instructed by the people at their primary meeting, due notice being given them by the County Committee.

Resolved, That the chairman of the County Committee be required to issue a call in pursuance of this action of the Committee

All which the Republicans of Crawford county are requested to read, consider and strictly observe, as their rule of action in the approaching election and thereby make "a fair test" of the new RULE in the party organization. By order of the committee.

JOHN W. HOWE, Chairman.

The Celebration—Adjourned Meeting.

The Committee of Arrangements met at Common Council room Tuesday evening, June 22d pursuant to adjournment

Mr McCrum, of Committee on Instrumental Music, reported progress

Prof. Birdsall having attended in response to request to organize a class of Misses to sing national airs at the grove, he was added to the committee.

Mr Bliss, of Committee on Speakers, moved that an invitation be extended to Hon H. C Johnson, of Meadville, to deliver the oration at the grove Carried.

Mr Stewart, of Committee on Grounds, reported that the exercises would take place in Abbott's Grove, which would be suitably prepared for the occasion.

Mr. Potter of Finance Committee, reported that subscriptions for the celebration amounted to about $1000.

Mr O'Neil, of Committee on Fireworks, reported that $100 worth would be purchased, and the exhibition would surpass that of last year.

Mr. McCrum reported that arrangements were rapidly perfecting for the fantastic parade between 9 and 10 o'clock, A. M., and there would be a larger turnout.

Mr Bliss reported that a contract had been made with Mr. Roth for a rope walking exhibition, and with Prof. Thurston for a balloon ascension in the afternoon

On motion Mr Bliss was authorized to arrange for special trains in both directions on the O. C. Railroad

Committee on printing reported progress.

Committee on programme submitted a report which was adopted.

On motion adjourned Saturday evening at 8 o'clock

H. W. POTTER, Sec'y.

The Erie Railway.

From the Rochester Chronicle, June 1, 1869.

Whatever may be said about the financiering and legislative figuring of the Erie Railway managers, there is no denying that the road under their control is at the present moment one of the finest in the country. The track is delightfully smooth and tracks pass over it with very little of the disagreeable jar and clatter which prove so annoying on some of our railroads. And the scenery on the route is unsurpassed by any other within the observation of ordinary business travelers in the United States. Some of it is exceedingly grand and imposing, at other points it is simply beautiful—there is a great diversity, and the observer is not wearied with an everlasting succession of neatly and slightly cultivated farms alternately appealing to the eye. The broad, roomy cars, too, are so comfortable in comparison with those usually to be found on narrow gauge roads. The sleeping cars are elegantly fitted up, and the abundance is good. A line of magnificent palace drawing room cars is run over the road to take a New York and Buffalo, in which one can take his ease with about as much contentment as in the parlors of a first-class hotel. The regular passenger coaches and smoking cars on the road are very handsome and comfortable. Altogether, the rolling stock of the Erie Railway is of a superior sort, and persons in the vicinity who have occasion to visit New York will find the Erie route much the most desirable. Our experience leads us to think so, at any rate.

PROTECTION OBTAINED FOR BRAKEMEN.—Some time ago the brakemen on the First Division of the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad struck for higher wages. They were removed, and other men put in their places. Of late the removed men have been threatening to take from the trains the men who were engaged in their places. The Buffalo Courier says on Saturday Mr M. C. Whitbeck, Superintendent of the Division, visited Buffalo and consulted Albro and Byrne, detective agents, who furnished them fifteen resolute men to guard the employes of the road. The men left there in charge of Captain Reinhardt, ex-Jailor.

THE DEFENCE OF CANADA.—It is given out in official quarters that the Home Government has adopted a policy of non intervention toward its Canadian Provinces in the matter of defence, and is rapidly withdrawing its land and naval forces. For several months past troops have been leaving, and we notice that a transport has arrived at St. Johns to take the last of the British troops from New Brunswick The Gladstone administration assumes that, as a confederation, the Canadian Provinces must defend themselves, and ought to forego their ancient dependence upon the mother country.

Raymond and Greeley

The Utica Herald, in an article upon the death of the late Henry J Raymond, draws the following contrast between the editors of the Times and the Tribune:

The contrast between Mr. Raymond, and him who was for years his editorial and political rival, is remarkable. Mr. Raymond had the more culture; Mr. Greeley the more force. Mr. Raymond knew men and the world the better; Mr. Greeley estimates moral sympathies and elements the more correctly. Mr. Raymond in thought and expression, studied proprieties; Mr Greeley hurls out his ideas and words like a Titan, regardless where they hit. Mr Raymond was the better trained intellectual athlete, knowing how to use every muscle and fibre according to rule; Mr. Greeley tosses science to the wind and trusts to nature. Mr. Raymond accepted society as he found it, and was willing to be in and of it; Mr. Greeley finds much wrong about the foundations, and busies himself about righting them. Mr. Raymond was the more symmetrical; Mr. Greeley at times nearer to genius. Mr Raymond had the better judgment; Mr. Greeley has the more glowing enthusiasm. Mr. Raymond had the more tact and shrewdness, and was accounted the better counselor by point blank; Mr Greeley has always had the larger following and has been much more eminently the leader of opinion.

CARTER'S Clothing Store, no doubt imbued with the martial spirit of its owner, has lately been doing through some military evolutions. It first took "aim to the right," then "shouldered to the rear," then made a "second left half wheel." Finding itself too far in advance it "dressed back" till on a line with the column and is now coming down to a "parade rest" on the "right of the line" exactly opposite Corinthian Hall.
